

CALL FOR EXHIBITORS

16th International Conference on Plastination

July 25-27, 2012 Beijing, China

Sponsored by

China Capital Medical University (CCMU)

Chinese Society for Anatomical Sciences (CSAS)

Supported by

International Society for Plastination (ISP)

Organized by

CHINA CYTS M.I.C.E SERVICE CO.,LTD.

Conference Background

Under the theme “Plastination: Trends in Technology, Education and Research”, the ICP 2012 programme will cover all areas related to plastination and preservation of biological specimens, including their potential application to clinical, function and digital anatomy. The Conference will provide a platform for all participants to take full advantage of the many opportunities for formal and informal interaction with colleagues from all over the world, sharing knowledge of the most recent advances in technology, education and research of plastination and biological preservation.

The ICP 2012 continues the tradition of the ISP biennial conferences and will have a two day pre-conference hands-on workshop. This workshop is organized by Professor Rafael Latorre, University of Murcia, Spain, and is supervised by a team of world-renowned plastination experts. It is designed for (1) those who are novices in the technique of plastination, (2) those who would like to familiarize themselves more with the basic principles of plastination and (3) those who would like to receive close direction in the implementation of these principles to establish a laboratory of Plastination.
